REV. D. B. WAHL OF LEDUC ENROLLS IN BULLETIN CONTEST

Lots of Room for More Energetic People—Contestants Are Just Getting Away in Race for Honors—$15,000 in Cash Prizes Waiting to Be Divided

MRS. HARRY C. HUNT is another contestant in Edmonton who is making a splendid showing in the contest for one of The Bulletin's cash prizes. Mrs. Hunt is a resident of Leduc, Alta. She has been in the contest since the first day.

Names of new candidates are being added to the list daily, showing that there are a number of "live wires" who feel that there is still time to start in the race for the automobiles being offered by The Bulletin.

The latest to enroll in Rev. D. B. Wahl of Leduc. Mr. Wahl is entering the contest with a determination to win at least one of the four grand prizes reserved for the country, and has mapped out his strategy so that each home will be visited either as a new subscriber or as a renewer during the next few weeks.

Several subscribers paid their arrears direct to The Bulletin during the last week and did not get any of the prizes. This only means that they are as thorough as they should. Only a subscriber is paid.

The Edmonton Bulletin

Published every week morning by The Edmonton Bulletin Limited at The Bulletin Building, 2811-2845 Broadway, Edmonton, Alberta, Canada.
 West, and where it is proclaimed alike to renegade wild, turbulent native and peaceful settler that the law had come to protect the peace and punish the guilty. A peculiar interest attaches, and must always attach, to the place where Government first asserted its supremacy and gave notice to all concerned that the foothill country was to be the home of law-abiding people and not a range and refuge for outlaws. It would be altogether regrettable if the fifteenth anniversary of the capture of the "Darks of the North" were to pass unnoticed, or if it were to be commemorated elsewhere. Macleod is the logical place for the celebration, and apparently preparations have been made to make it a real one. The southern town will be the Mecca of thousands of people next week, coming from all parts of Alberta, from the other provinces, and many from more distant points on either side of the line. Lieutenant Governor Brett, himself an old timer of the southern country, and the part that the Police played in this stirring time of the capture of the "Darks" is the splendid type of men who joined the original force that not a few of them remain, and will foregather with their former comrades to commemorate the days of Al Lang Syne.

Another Embarrassment of Riches

However they fare at the elections, the Democrats are not in want of men who are willing to carry the party standard in the presidential contest. When the convention met there were twenty aspirants on hand for the honor of trying to lead Coolidge. Quite evidently the Democrats party is seething with hope of victory, or it is rich in candidates for political martyrdom.

Male Teachers and Two Shifts?

Trustee Barnes thinks we ought to have more male teachers in the lower grades of the schools. For the particular reason that children need to be taught arithmetic and that lady teachers are not strong in this subject as a rule. He also thinks it would be well to try out the two-shift system, do less teaching and not let it up to the pupils to do more "digging" for themselves.

In both of which suggestions there is a good deal of common sense. The feminine mind does not continue to mature, and a youngster will not learn the multiplication tables just for sheer enjoyment of the thing. Nor is the over-taught student the one who makes the most progress and the capable man. Self-help is still the best kind of help.

Time to Pay Up

Tax collectors at the city hall for the first months of the year amount to less than $200,000, against more than a half million for the corresponding term last year. The decline is probably due to the fact that last year taxes were demanded earlier. No portion of the present year's levy has yet fallen due, and those who have paid already have done so voluntarily.

It is in order to note that under the installment plan adopted one-half of the taxes for the current year are required to be paid before the end of the present month. The balance is split into two payments, falling due at the first of September and the first of November. Those who do not wish to fall into arrears and be subject to penalty must remit before the month is out.

Preventing Mail Service

At Windsor, Ontario, former employees of the postal department are reported to be picketing the post office and preventing the newly engaged men from going to work. In so doing they are trying to have the approval of the people of the city. Windsor appears to be the only place where such tactics have been employed, and it is probably the only place where they are likely to be successful. If the result is that Windsor people have to do without their mail the rest of the country will not worry.

If the people of this city prefer that Canada should be ruled by force, and not by reason, that is their business so long as they are the chief sufferers. People who have no intention of accepting that kind of government. The postmen at Windsor, as at Toronto, quit their jobs without any necessity of doing so, and if they did not get back to work by a fixed hour their places would be filled. Having quit that service, they now refuse to accept of any other duty. If that is the kind of postal service Windsor wants it is likely to get plenty of it.

The Fifty Years of the Law

It is fifty years since the newly organized North-West Mounted Police came into the section of the "great lone land" which now constitutes the province of Alberta, and devoted to regular police work in conformity with Canadian law. The Dominion itself was at the time only seven years old. One of its earliest activities was the acquisition of Rupert's land from the Hudson's Bay Company. A recent rebellion had shown the need of establishing a police force with posts scattered throughout the whole prairie, but capable of mobilization in case of emergency. An organization was authorized by act of Parliament, and the force was developed into the famous "mounties." How faithfully and efficiently the new body undertook and discharged its duties in an old and well-known story. That the quality of the officers and men, and to the high standard of conduct they set for themselves, the Canadian west was made a country where life and property were more secure than they had been in any other part of the continent in pioneer days. The term "wild and woolly" has never been properly applied to any section of this side of the line. The "gunman" never ruled this country. When he appeared he was promptly put under surveillance, and when he receded, the law followed him. The people of Macleod are celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of the coming of the police on July 31, 2nd and 3rd. The place and the time are fitting for the holding of the jubilee. In no part of the world are conditions more needful of regulation in those days than in the southern part of what is now Alberta. The few whites in the country were largely engaged in the fur trade and other branches of forbidden commerce. In establishing their first post at Macleod, the Mounties, as usual, went straight to the headquarters of the lawlessness it was their business to suppress. Ft. Macleod was the point where the authority of the Dominion was first established in this territory. West, and where it was proclaimed alike to renegade wild, turbulent native and peaceful settler that the law had come to protect the peace and punish the guilty. A peculiar interest attaches, and must always attach, to the place where Government first asserted its supremacy and gave notice to all concerned that the foothill country was to be the home of law-abiding people and not a range and refuge for outlaws. It would be altogether regrettable if the fifteenth anniversary of the capture of the "Darks of the North" were to pass unnoticed, or if it were to be commemorated elsewhere. Macleod is the logical place for the celebration, and apparently preparations have been made to make it a real one. The southern town will be the Mecca of thousands of people next week, coming from all parts of Alberta, from the other provinces, and many from more distant points on either side of the line. Lieutenant Governor Brett, himself an old timer of the southern country, and the part that the Police played in this stirring time of the capture of the "Darks" is the splendid type of men who joined the original force that not a few of them remain, and will foregather with their former comrades to commemorate the days of Al Lang Syne.

CHOW'S NEW RATES
 What does the restoration of the Crow's Nest Pass rates on incoming freight mean to the people of Western Canada?

The answer to this question is indicated by the tables recently published, showing the rates upon the articles as they were fixed by the Crow's Nest Pass agreement and as they are today, from Toronto to points in the West.

These tables are taken from the memorandum submitted to the government by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways. The increase in rates is explained by the fact that in 1915 those rates were reached by branch railways running, respectively, from Regina and Saskatoon. In the meantime, however, the Crow's Nest Pass schedule, but in point of fact the discrepancy could not continue, under the rule as to determining the comparative rates per 100 lbs. in all cases for carloads—see as follows: From Toronto to Winnipeg and West—

According to the local meteorological office, the temperature during the afternoon rose to 74 in the sun. The shade temperature was eighty-two at noon and eighty at 5:30 o'clock. The woman in charge of the weather bureau announced that she lived near the pool and that if duty had not kept her at her instrument, there would have been another brightly colored bathing cap in the pool.
